fou will never be in good health and never do your best work if your feet are constantly cold. Grave diseases of the throat and lungs are caused by cold feet alone, and these troubles are always aggravated by a frigid condition of the lower extremities

If proper footwear does not give relief, consult a physician, for the chances are the system is "run down," and radical measures are necessary. In nine cases out of ten, however, the foot covering is to blame, either because of its shape or its material.

Save in warm weather, and for low-cut shoes, leather, as ordinarily prepared, has serious objections. It lacks two prime qualities-porosity and capacity for absorption-being in this respect too much like rubber. No foot can remain either comfort able or healthy if kept in a perpetual bath of its own emanations and excretions. Leather, especially that of the more porous varieties, may be tolerated for the outside. but for cold weather it should always be lined with woolen cloth, or, better, with wool felt. In fact, for all cold climates where there is any winter, a footgear made from all-wool felt approaches the

ENDEAVORERS ARE PLANNING Well Attended Meeting of the '96

Committee Held Last Night. A meeting of the committee of '96, wa held last evening at 1425 New York avenue. The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. E. B. Bagby. After the reading of the minutes, the secretary read a letter from Mr. Baer referring at length to his pleasant visit to Washington. Letters were read from the Westminster Presbyterian and St. Paul's English Lutheran Christian Endeavor Societies, offering the use of their church edifices.

The committee directed the sending of a letter to the societies and pastors stating that the committee has officially indorsed no lecturer or other entertainers who might present themselves to the societies with a proposition to give lectures, etc., for the ng of convention funds. It was, of course, considered that the committee had no objection to the raising of funds by such means, provided the individual societies and churches chose to raise part of their contributions in this way.

They want it understood, however, that no one had been in any way indorsed by the Mr. Shand of the entertainment committee reported the following delegations have com pleted hotel arrangements: Texas, La Fetras; Indiana, Cochran; Massachusetts, Willards; St. Louis, Normandie; Illinois, Regent; Iowa, Bancroft; Pennsylvania, Ox-ford; Ohio, Fredonia; New Jersey, Na-tional:

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR. Growth of This Remarkable Society

in the District of Columbia. Mr. Hermon C. Metcaif, writing in February issue of the Christian Endeav orer, has this to say of the status of th society in the District of Columbia:

I believe you will be interested in the rigures I have to present to you. Statistics are often dry and uninteresting, but these are exceptional. Figures do not mean very much, but those here have greater meaning because of the correinferences we may gather from them occasion, but are from the records as they appear at the present time. They do not include those of the junior societies.

Our union is farger now than ever be-fore, both in the number of societies and membership. At the beginning of the present term there were 69 societies, with a total caroliment of 5,253. At present there are 74 societies, with 5,412 members. The Presbyterians are still in the lead with 25 societies and a membership of 1.703, of which 1.252 are active. Following them are the Baptists, with 1.176 members and 13 societies. There is the same number of Methodist Episcopal societies with a membership of 944. The Congregationalists, the denomi-nation in which the society originated have 6 societies and a membership of 581 The Lutherans have the same number of societies with a membership of 298. Next ome the Christians with a membership of 276, though there are but three societies The Methodist Protestants follow with 253 members and 5 societies. The three societies classed as miscellaneous, Fort Myer, Howard University and Memorial United Brethren, have a total membership of 181. The largest society is the Nine teenth Street Baptist, which numbers 225 members, of which 175 are active. The second in num er of active members is the Ninth Stree

Christian Society, with 140; its total membership is 161.

I have been interested in calculating the averages in numbers of members. The Congregationalists have the highest, which is 97. Next come the Christians, with 92, and the Baptists, with 83, while the lowest, that of the Lutherans, is 49 a number entirely sufficient to make strong and active society. The average for the entire Union is 73, which bears a striking relation to the number of societies. The average active membership is 56. It is worthy of note that there is Christian Endeavor Society in every church in the District of Columbia in three tenominations, the Presbyterians, Con gregational, and Christian. It may be well to mention, too, that the twenty-five Presbyterian societies include three which are situated outside the District, although they belong to this union.
